Object: Coronavirus outbreak

Dear Valuable Partner,

as you are aware, there are now more than 45 thousands confirmed cases of coronavirus worldwide, total number of infected is growing every day. We have been informed that Chinese authorities have extended end of the Lunar New Year Holidays until February 17th, 2020 at least but it can be postponed based on epidemic development however.

The situation will have, for sure, global impact on availability of raw materials supplied from China so for this reason let us inform you about position of Synthesia, a.s. and availability situation of Organic Pigments and Dyes supplied by us.

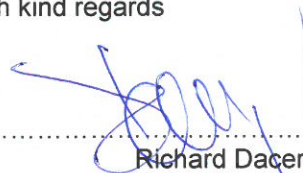

Based on company policy and allocation of RM producers in Asia we usually work with buffer stock of raw materials and of our products as well to eliminate possible difficulties for short term period.

Unfortunately at the moment it's not possible to predict further development especially if situation in China will continue longer.

In any case we remain at your disposal to provide you respective information about exactly product on request.

Thank you for your understanding and collaboration

With kind regards

Richard Dacer
SBU Director Pigment and Dyes
